Delegates will share existing knowledge and each day will include a practical course walk session covering all aspects. These sessions take place at an active live event and as such provide a unique opportunity to both observe the function and operation of situations in a safe working environment. A wonderful opportunity to gain a greater insight into the sport, swap experiences and discuss problems that we are faced with at a modern event. Break away groups with various tutors will enhance individual skills and collective sessions will be beneficial for senior and less experienced delegates in order to keep up-to-date with current ideas and changes. It is hoped that the effect of spreading the word will benefit the welfare and safety of the horse and rider in the future.
